

Road Signs to Know

Yield signs tell you to slow down so the passing traffic can go by.

Stop signs are posted at the end of streets or at busy corners. They are a warning to stop and proceed with caution.

These signs are put up to say that you have gone the wrong way.

One way signs are put up to show the direction in which the traffic must go.

Pedestrian Crossing signs show where one should go to cross the street. Be sure to look both ways.

Railroad Crossing signs warn you to stop and wait at railroad tracks and look both ways. Then you can proceed with caution.

Bicycle Safety Tips for Kids

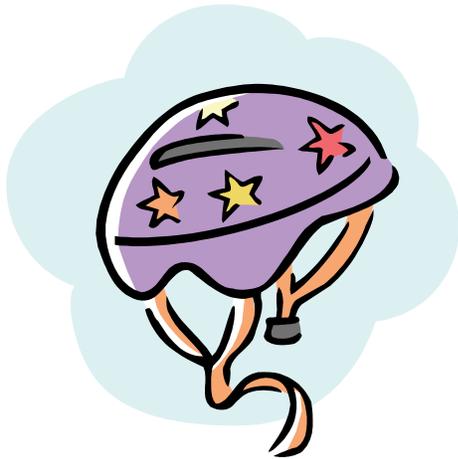

Bicycle Safety for Kids

As parents our primary responsibility is to ensure the safety and protection of our children. That is why helmet protection is vitally important. The statistics regarding head injuries in children are staggering! We must educate our children on how they can better protect themselves while they are out having fun. Helmets should also be worn during any activity where a head injury is a possibility. This includes scooters, skateboards, and rollerblades.

Remember:

Helmet safety, It's in you child's best interest!

Cyclist are required to follow all state statutes required by any motorized vehicle.

Bike Safety Checklist

MAKE SURE:

- The seat is adjusted correctly and is locked tight.
- The tires are inflated
- Brakes are even and have enough power
